How do i check if any item is selected? A: Ext.select.Trigger#checkTrigger(fieldId) checked: boolean Determines whether or not to trigger a change event when selecting the first option in this field. Note that for combobox fields, this will only be triggered when the field is empty. This method can be overridden, and optionally the field can be passed instead. Ext.select.ComboBox#triggerChangeEvent(field) Changes the selected item in the field. If no field is specified, the combobox is assumed and will try to trigger the change event. ... This function is fired when the user changes the selection in the field. This is not triggered when the user presses the up or down arrow keys, but if the item is selected and an up/down arrow is clicked the previous or next item in the list is selected. Ext.select.Trigger#onTrigger(events, fn) The trigger's onTrigger event describes when the trigger should be fired. Sample code Ext.create("Ext.form.Panel", { title: "select.ComboBox test", width: 300, bodyStyle: "padding:10px", renderTo: Ext.getBody(),
